2 SUSTAINABILITY AND ENERGY

Mark will work closely with Holly, the University's recently appointed sustainability coordinator. Mark enjoyed reading Holly's own manifesto, which took a moral philosophy perspective on promoting sustainability on campus, for instance using visual art to raise climate awareness. Through his son, Mark learned about key environmental societies and groups on campus as they were established, for instance UnEarth Magazine. Mark has also followed environmental updates through the universities' blog and enjoyed seeing new events.

My experience in national-level energy efficiency and sustainability gives me the tools to lead this transformation, ensuring that our university becomes a beacon of environmental responsibility and innovation.

Together, we'll harness the power of student-driven initiatives, working hand in hand with the sustainability coordinator, to create a more environmentally conscious and efficient St Andrews.

“Mark believes St Andrews can pursue a more ambitious approach to energy efficiency and leverage technology to achieve their 2035 energy and water efficiency targets.”

3 DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

Mark has a track record of results for those facing challenges with disabilities. To help disabled military veterans who were experiencing long delays from the government in processing their medical claims, Mark created a new program that empowered law students to help veterans process their claims pro bono. This innovative approach resulted in a 50% reduction in processing time and the law students said it was the best experience of their law school career—to use their skills to help people in need.

In my dedication to diversity and inclusion at St Andrews, I see a campus where every voice is heard, every perspective valued, and every student empowered to thrive. Together, we'll work closely with the University's Equality, Diversity, and Inclusion (EDI) team, fostering open and transparent conversations with students to create a more inclusive environment.

“Together, we can build a more inclusive and equitable St Andrews for all.”

4 STUDENT HOUSING

Mark has a track record of success in fixing difficult housing issues. Mark was recruited to solve a situation where military families were living in substandard housing and the commercial landlords were price gouging with inflated rents. Mark convened a group of government, industry, and the company's leadership and brokered a solution to upgrade the homes within a year, and change the pricing formula. His leadership won kudos from the families for stepping up to help them. Mark also led the effort that changed the government regulations and pricing formula to stop landlords from overcharging.

Together, we will increase resources, engage with key officials, and work tirelessly to make meaningful progress on this critical issue, ensuring that no student has to face unnecessary housing difficulties during their time at St Andrews.

“Mark wants to ensure that first year students understand difficulties with housing and have a clear roadmap for options before entering their first year.”

TOGETHER, WE CAN ACHIEVE GREATNESS

St Andrews has a rich history, and together, we can build an even brighter future. Mark's vision, combined with your support and engagement, will enable us to achieve greatness. We'll work collaboratively to address the most pressing issues, improve career prospects, enhance sustainability, promote diversity, and ensure accessible housing.
